AMERICAN NEWS.

Mangled by Mastiffs--Frightful Death of a Boy in Wheeling, Virginia.

Three Men Roasted to Death by Burning Naphtha--A Child Killed by an Eagle.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 6.--Edward Gillis, nine years old, had a horrible and fatal experience in this city, this evening.

Young Gillis was playing in the street, and near at hand was a dog kennel, in which were confined six huge English mastiffs.

While playing, Gillis began teasing the dogs and they became fearfully enraged. One of the dogs broke down the door and the six ferocious brutes made a fierce attack upon the boy.

He was knocked down at first on his back and all the dogs began biting and chewing him. Over twenty people were in sight at the time and a crowd quickly gathered, but so great was the fear of the ferocious brutes, who seemed utterly mad from the taste of blood, that it was fully five minutes before aid reached the unfortunate youth.

Police-man James Carney, assisted by William Robinson, armed with revolvers and crow-bars, finally reached the infuriated animals, but it was impossible to make them loosen their hold on the child, and Carney shot five dogs dead while they were still chewing and biting their victim.

The sixth brute escaped. Carney was severely bitten. Gillis' wounds are terrible. His eyes, ears and nose were literally bitten out, while his body has no fewer than 60 wounds. The dogs that were killed were valued at $100 each.

Three Men Roasted Alive. PROVIDENCE, R.I., Sept. 7.--In view of 100 spectators three men were literally roasted alive, with water 40 feet deep all about them.

The city has a process of disposing of its garbage will by treating it with naphtha, a large tank of which was lying on the banks of the Womassquacket river. The tank began to leak yesterday, and the river became covered with a thick coating of inflammable stuff.

Just below the tank there was a raft, on which was an engine and a pile-driver, worked by three men. Their names were Patrick Nagle and Patrick Fennelly of Providence, and Phineas Gammell of Pawtucket.

The outgoing tide carried the naphtha to the pile-driver, which was completely surrounded. The gases arising from it were ignited by the fire under the boiler, and instantly the pile-driver was ablaze and a fearful flame and heavy black cloud of smoke hid the raft and pile-driver from sight.

While the smoke was rolling up there were heard the most agonizing screams from the men on the raft. An alarm was given, and when the fire was subdued the three men were found blackened on the raft, rolling in their frenzy and agony.

They had been penned in by a solid sheet of fire and had been roasted. Every bit of skin on Nagle's face, hands, arms and legs came off like an old glove, as well as the thumb and finger nails. Gammell was not so badly burned, but his injuries are very serious. All will die.

Child Killed by an Eagle. SALT SPRING, Mich., Sept. 6.--John Powdige, former chief of the Chippewa tribe of Indians, lives on the banks of St. Mary's river, and acts as a guide for hunting parties.

Yesterday, three Cincinnati men engaged him for a day's hunt. They started to cross the river, this morning, and when nearly over noticed a large bird flying high in the air.

The Indians said it was an eagle, and suggested that he should row back to the American shore, so as to be within gunshot of the bird if it should descend. He did so, and the bird came down within a mile of the point where the party landed.

They then started for a gunshot distance. Powdige's squaw meantime had gone down to the river to get some water, leaving her three-month-old papoose tied to the usual board and leaning against the side of her hut.

The eagle spied the child and swooped down to the ground the bird made a swoop on the helpless child. The squaw saw the descent of the bird and supposed that it was after a chicken, but she was horrified a moment later to see the eagle rise with the child in its talons.

When about ten feet from the ground the eagle dropped its load, but immediately swooped down on it again. Failing in an attempt to pick up the child, the eagle pecked at its throat and eyes, gouging one eye out and lacerating its body.

The squaw soon reached the spot and attempted to drive the eagle off with sticks, but the bird turned on her and pecked at her, inflicting a serious gash. It then rose in the air about 100 feet, but apparently changing its mind, swooped down again.

At this moment the sound of two distant rifle shots was heard, and the bird fell to the ground. A minute later Powdige and party rushed up to make sure of their game.

Powdige scarcely reached the eagle when he heard a shriek from his squaw, and discovered that his child had been killed. It is not known whether the child was killed by its fall or by the loss of blood from its wound. The eagle was one of the largest ever seen here.

Mangled by a Panther. TALLEHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 6.--While a gang of section men were working on the Florida & Western railway, to-day, 20 miles from here, along a big swamp, a large ferocious panther leaped from a tree and struck one McWilliam, knocking him flat.

The rest of the party fled, leaving McWilliam to fight alone. The contest was short and bloody. McWilliam had no weapon, except a shovel, and in a few minutes had been mangled beyond recognition.

The rest of the gang secured arms and returned, but were too late, as the panther had torn the arms off the corpse and fled to the swamp. Work has been suspended on the railway, the men refusing to work.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES. THE OAR. C. E. Dutch and C. Stephenson, the Australian oarsmen who are to take part in the great regatta at Westminster during exhibition week, commenced training for the event this morning.

Both are six footers, and both claim Sydney as their home. They arrived in San Francisco on August 6, and Dutch now has a race on with Petersen for $1,000 a side, to be rowed on the Oakland course.

He and his friend and fellow countryman are little known on this side of the water, though both have figured in good races at home. About two months ago Dutch rowed and was defeated by Sullivan, who broke the world's record.

Sullivan was given five seconds in the race, and won it by seven. Both Dutch and Stephenson will train from Jones' boat house; they are already in fairly good condition, and about ten days' work will put them in shape for racing.

Petersen will not take part in the regatta, having at the last minute found it impossible to procure a fit shell to row; he feels bad over the matter, as he had set his heart upon pulling an our against O'Connor.

New Westminster, Sept. 7.--Alex. McLean, the oarsman, got a letter, to-day, from Ten Eyck, challenging him to row a race in outrigger skiffs for $500 a side, at Seattle or Oakland, whichever place offered the best inducements.

McLean telegraphed accepting the challenge and asking Ten Eyck to come out immediately, arrangements to be concluded and place of race fixed on his arrival.

A despatch was received from Toronto, this morning, saying that Hendan and O'Connor left for Westminster, to-day. Gaudaur will follow in a few days.

McLean and Murray, of New Westminster, and Martin and Dignan, of Nanaimo, have signed articles to row a double scull race on Nanaimo Bay, on the 19th inst., for $250 or $500 a side.

THE GUN. TACOMA VISITS VICTORIA. The shooting match between the Tacoma Rifle and Gun Club, and the Union Gun Club of Victoria, took place on each side--came off at Tacoma, on Saturday. The match was shot under American Association rules, at Peoria blackbirds, 25 each, 16 yards rise, birds sprung from five traps at unknown angles.

Out of a possible 400 birds, the score was 320, giving an average of 80 per cent. The individual totals are as follows:

Tacoma. H. F. Denham.....23 J. C. Mcneer.....22 W. H. Lodge.....21 C. W. Minor.....20 E. E. Kille.....20 N. H. Short.....19 A. Eberly.....22 F. S. Macleod.....19 Dr. Smith.....21 G. Vaughan.....19 H. H. Bond.....19 H. H. Bond.....18 T. A. Bringham.....19 C. Told.....18 R. Palmer.....18 N. H. Adams.....18 Total.....167 Total.....153

The Tacoma club winning the match by 14 birds. The scores on both sides are good, in fact, exceptionally so, for team shooting, an average of 80 per cent, would be no discredit to the skilled professional. When it is considered that the Union Club have been organized scarcely six months, and have had but little experience in target shooting, they have made a splendid record at their first match; and matched, too, against a club who have had several years of experience, and have on their roll a number--four at least--of the crack shots of the Pacific coast, who took part in the contest, our home club may feel proud that their defeat was not greater.

The Tacoma club modestly stated that they had not been beaten in any contest that they had for several years in their matches with Portland, Spokane and Seattle, and admitted that the Union Club pushed them more closely than in any former match they had shot, in fact they felt somewhat doubtful of the result of this match, as on the first 150 birds the Union's lead the score six birds. The system of "rapid firing" being entirely new to the Victoria team, and shooting on strange ground, too, probably made some difference in the score.

The match, under the rapid firing system, was a fine exhibition; as the birds are sprung so quickly that they are almost constantly in the air, which necessitates more active movements on the part of the shooter.

The contest was a most enjoyable one, the Tacomas showing every desire to make their visitors at home. The sport was witnessed by several ladies, who occupied seats on the stand, each scoring the result of the shots, with apparently as much interest as the shooters. R. F. Hendersen was provided on the grounds, and in the evening a splendid supper was given at the Commercial Club rooms which would have done honor to a prince.

Everything that the Tacoma Club did was with a free hand, and with the utmost friendliness and liberality.

A return match has been arranged, to take place at the end of this month.

HERE AND THERE. The shells Dutch and Stephenson will race in at Westminster are each 31 ft. 6 in. in length, 10 1/2 inches beam, and weigh 30 lbs. They were made in Sydney, N. S. W. The Sir William Wallace society will present the medals won in their recent games to the winners at 8 o'clock this evening, and request those to whom medals are due to attend at the hall on Broad street promptly at the hour named.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Sir Hector Langevin Resigns His Portfolio as Minister of Public Works.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell Sustains a Relapse--J. A. Mara Leaves for Home.

(From Our Own Correspondent). OTTAWA, Sept. 7.--Sir Hector Langevin is a minister of the Crown no longer.

In view of the questions asked respecting his status, Sir Hector wrote to Premier Abbott, this morning, urging that his resignation be accepted. Premier Abbott replied that he would lay the matter before the Governor-General at once.

Sir John Thompson made an announcement in the Commons to this effect, this afternoon.

It is understood that an arrangement will be reached between the Ontario Bank and the Baie Des Chaleurs Co., by which the company consents to deposit $180,000 with the bank for the benefit of the creditors.

A strong opposition was manifested in the Commons, to-day, to the appropriation of a salary for Hector Fabre, the Canadian agent in Paris, on the ground that the office was useless. An effort was made to discredit Chapeau by raking up the old charge that he had levied a toll of ten per cent. from contractors Smith and Ripley by advancing their claim against the Government eight years ago.

Sir John Thompson gives notice of a joint address in both Houses to the Queen asking her to cause the Imperial parliament to pass an act removing the alleged doubts that Canada cannot legislate upon Canadian copyright.

Hon. Mr. Bowell had a relapse to-night. He resumed work too soon after the first attack.

Mr. Devlin, M.P., is said to be dying from lock jaw, at his home in Aylmer, Quebec.

Labor Day was observed as a general holiday here.

J. A. Mara left for home to-night.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Indian Reserve Question Referred to the Finance Committee--Tacoma's Exposition.

Action as to the Crematory Deferred--The New Wards--A Civic Census.

A special meeting of the City Council took place last night under the presidency of the Mayor. There were present Ald. Smith, Holland, Robertson, McKilloan, Munth and Coughlan.

The Council first took up the report of the Finance Committee favoring the purchase in fee simple of the Indian Reserve for $300,000, the balance, after providing for the Indians, to be devoted to the improvement of Victoria harbor.

On motion the subject was referred back to the Finance committee, together with the Mayor and City Barristers, with instructions to prepare a memorial to the Dominion Government, any proposition made to be subject to ratification by the vote of the rate-payers.

The Mayor and several members objected to the apparent desire of the Dominion Government to make money out of this property, which properly belonged to the city. It was further stated that a private individual was negotiating with the Indian Department for the purchase of the Reserve and the removal of the Indians.

After some discussion on the subject of the crematory and as to the best place for loading scows, supposing it should be decided to tow the garbage out to sea, the matter of selecting a crematory site was deferred for the present, and the Sanitary committee was requested to see that the Health by-law be rigidly enforced.

The question of the proposed new wards having come up, the report defining the five wards, previously published, was adopted, the wards to be numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, commencing at James Bay and working round with the sun.

ALD. MUNN, with reference to the proposed civic census, said that he had made numerous inquiries, and the city clerk had ascertained from Ottawa the official figures of the census taken by the Dominion authorities, which were for Victoria 16,841, an increase of 10,916. He had, he said, been informed by a number of persons in industrial establishments and private houses that many people who had been absent from Pioneer saloon on Douglas street, had not been taken. He had also made estimates, based on known facts, which indicated a much larger population than had been attributed to us; and, moreover, that the population of Victoria and Vancouver could not be so near each other as represented.

The Mayor said a new census could be taken for $400, and other members said it could be done for $250, or even less. Henderson would do it for $100. The basis of representation and subsidy being that of population, it was necessary that the census be made correctly.

ALD. McKilloan stated that the enumerator had refused to take a member of his family, alleging that he was too young. It was resolved to put up on the board for next meeting a notice of motion, setting forth that the city had been under-estimated in the official census of the Dominion, and that it was advisable to take a new census of the city.

It was resolved that 2,000 copies of the Northwestern review, containing a description and enumeration of the city, be forwarded to Mr. Gossell for distribution at Toronto and at the East.

Attention having been drawn to the subject, it was stated that Mr. Maclean, the sewerage contractor, had no right to haul material through a portion of the park.

A letter was received from Mr. Percy Brown asking permission to remove the Pioneer saloon on Douglas street, although it was under the valuation allowed by law.

Notice was given of a by-law to redistribute the city wards.

In connection with a communication from the Mayor of Vancouver, asking that the

NEWS OF THE PROVINCE.

WESTMINSTER. NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 6.--The first section of the Westminster street railway and Westminster-Vancouver electric tramway is finished, and the company is ready to begin running cars, but cannot, as the city's permission has not yet been given.

It appears there is a hitch as to the kind of rails used. The company put down T rails, and claim the city allowed their use, but the city claims never to have consented to them. It is probable the matter will be amicably arranged, but the delay in establishing the service is a serious public annoyance. If the company is forced to lay flat rails in the city limits, they will be out of pocket $10,000, and the service be delayed several months longer.

NANAIMO. NANAIMO, Sept. 7.--S. S. Wellington sailed, to-day, with a cargo of coal for San Francisco.

A scheme is on foot to form a company for the purpose of erecting a $50,000 hotel in this city. It is hoped, by the citizens generally, that this will be pushed forward, as the city is in great need of accommodation for its visitors.

Wm. Greenwell had his leg broken, on Saturday, while playing cricket. R. Casack had his leg broken in two places, to-day, by being thrown from a nule.

A Novel Marriage. CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 6.--Last evening a young man from one of the back counties, accompanied by a very pretty young woman, applied at several boarding houses for two rooms for the night. As the city is overrun with guests to the fair, they failed in their quest and the young man was in despair.

Suddenly he asked the proprietress of a minister. Rev. J. M. Warden happened to be passing at the time and was asked to marry them then and there. This the minister did, after recovering from his surprise, in the presence of a crowd of promenaders attracted by the unusual scene. Mr. Riggs said they had tried in vain to get separate lodgings, and under the circumstances he thought they had better be married at once. This explanation was satisfactory and they started away, followed by three hearty cheers from the crowd.

Seattle's Labor Day. Each of the trades organizations of the city having selected a delegate to represent them at Seattle's Labor Day, a number of accredited workers went over the Sound yesterday morning in an official capacity.

Obituary. Last evening Sergt. Levin received the sad news of the death of his mother, who died at Edgbaston, Birmingham, England, on the 20th of last month. The deceased lady was a sister of the Joseph Brothers, who are two of the largest real estate owners in Victoria.

Sons of St. George. At the regular meeting of Milton Lodge, Sons of St. George, held last night, Bros. Dearburg and Penketh were presented with handsome Past President's jewels. A committee was appointed to prepare for an entertainment at an early day, to which lady friends will be invited.

Scots Win Home! The joint committees of the Sir William Wallace and Scottish Pipers' Association met last evening in their rooms, Broad street, and having gone through the accounts in connection with the sports lately held on the Calcedonian grounds, found that there was a fair balance on hand after all accounts had been paid. It was decided that the medals won on the occasion be presented publicly, this evening at eight o'clock in the society's rooms, where, it is expected, there will be a large attendance of members and their lady friends. After the presentation of prizes, there will be a brief entertainment in which all can participate.

Royal Jubilee Hospital. A meeting of the directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital was held in the institution yesterday, President Joshua Davies in the chair. The other directors present were: Messrs. Charles Hayward, V. C.; W. M. Chudley, treasurer; A. C. Flumholt, J. S. Yares and E. A. McQuade. The medical officer's report was read and referred to the visiting committee, with power to act. Accounts amounting to over $3,000 were approved and referred to the finance committee for payment. The proposal that private wards, which have been fitted up by generous friends, should be called after them, was laid over for further consideration. A decision was arrived at that a donation of $250 will entitle the donor to the right of nominating to a bed in the hospital.

C.O.O.F., M.U. Tacoma's exhibition is expected to be one of the best things that have occurred on Puget Sound for a long time, and to enable the residents of Victoria to visit it, the members of Pride of the West Lodge, C.O.O.F., M.U., have timed their excursion--a fact which is sure to be appreciated in a very practical manner. The committee of arrangements have provided an excursion to Tacoma on Saturday, the 19th instant, the steamer Olympian having been engaged for the occasion. She will leave Victoria at seven o'clock in the morning, sharp, and convey her precious freight from the Queen city to the city of Destiny, where five hours will be allowed to take in the town and its sights, including the exposition referred to. The fare for the round trip, with all special advantages provided, will be only $2, and it is confidently expected that it will be the best trip of the season. Every arrangement has been made for the comfort and convenience of the passengers, who will have the opportunity of passing a real red letter day.

A CLERGYMAN'S DISGRACE.

Rev. H. Rudge, of Newent, England, Ends His Life in Prison with Poison.

Floods and Storms Ruin the British Grain Harvest—Sedan Day Celebration.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Gloucester is excited over a clerical scandal. Last evening, H. Rudge, the senior curate of Newent, near that city, who was well connected and had been highly respected, died in jail. His downfall has been rapid. A short time ago he began drinking, and it was soon learned by the parish trustees that he was using a large amount of the parochial funds. Through the influence of friends, who restored the money, the matter was hushed up, and it was hoped the minister's failings would be controlled, but after a brief period of uprightness he again fell from grace, and it became necessary for the parishioners to dismiss him.

A week ago Rudge was forced to leave his house for non-payment of rent. Overcome by shame and despair, he attempted to commit suicide, but was prevented and was sent to jail for the offence of trying to end his life.

It is believed that he obtained poison through some friend while in jail, and was enabled to finally complete the work of self-destruction, as an autopsy shows signs of poison. Very few of the curate's parishioners had an idea of the disgrace into which he had fallen, the prevailing idea being that he was suffering from nervous prostration. The revelations following the suicide have caused a profound sensation.

Sedan Day Celebrated.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—In many parts of Germany to-day the people celebrated the anniversary of the week, which, 21 years ago witnessed the overthrow of the French and the surrender of Napoleon at Sedan. To-day is known as Sedan day. The troops were absent at the manoeuvres, but multitudes of civilians visited the cemeteries and placed flowers on the graves of the soldiers. It was noticed that the occasion was greater than last year, and the common talk of the people was that the scenes of 1870-71 might soon again be repeated. The war feeling in Germany is very strong, and there is a general sentiment that the present tension cannot long continue, and that France will either have to fight or assume a more conciliatory attitude.

Parnell to Visit America.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—It is understood by some of his friends that Parnell intends forthwith to set out for the United States, to see what can be done towards closing up the ranks of his party on the American side of the Atlantic. Money is sorely needed since a considerable portion of the members of the old party who stood by him have, from the first, been accustomed to the receipt of these regular subsidies which the late Biggar judiciously distributed. Need will become more pressing if anything like a fight is to be made at the general elections. Moreover, there is an immediate demand for the funds to start in Dublin a daily paper, with which to crush the renegade Freeman's Journal.

Peace Secure for Europe.

ST. PETERSBURG, September 6.—The newspapers here express confidence that in view of the entente cordiale between France and Russia that the powers will hesitate to protest against Turkey's concession to Russia regarding the Dardanelles for fear of raising thorny questions regarding Bosnia, Cyprus and Egypt, while Turkey, strengthened with the knowledge of the Franco-Russian entente, as a counterpoise to the dreadnought, will not be easily intimidated. Thus the papers believe that peace is assured.

New Turkish Grand Vizier.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.—Archimed Eyah has been appointed governor of Crete to succeed Djenob Pasha, who has just been promoted from the governorship to be grand vizier. A rumor which it was impossible to confirm is current to the effect that Kiam Pasha, the recently deposed grand vizier, is suffering imprisonment. His dismissal is understood to be due to complicity in a plot for the deposition of the sultan.

Poland Eager to See War.

VIENNA, Sept. 6.—The Austrian emperor is, to some extent, compensated for the disloyal attitude of the Bohemians by the growing devotion of the Gallician Poles. The latter are even eager to see war break out, in order that they may have a chance to avenge their national wrongs on Russia, which country they hold responsible for the destruction of Poland.

All the indications are that in the event of a Russian invasion of Galicia the Poles will rise as one man to battle against their hereditary enemies. The reason for Polish devotion to Austria is that nowhere has Austrian rule been more beneficent than in Austrian Poland, where it contrasts sharply with the oppression exercised by the Russians on the other side of the border.

England's Ruined Crops.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Toward the middle of the week it seemed probable that the long spell of bad weather that has played havoc with the crops was broken and that something might be saved out of the wreck, but the burst of fine weather was only temporary. Once more the rain descended. Floods have come, and, beating on fields ripe for the harvest, have quenched the last spark of hope. What makes the trial harder to bear is that the disaster has followed fast on what promised to be an unusually fine harvest. There was not only a bountiful crop, but owing to the failure of the harvest on the continent, prices rose, and British farmers began to meditate serenely on the prospect of 6s. per bushel for sound wheat. That dream is over, and the only question is whether it will be worth while, or even possible, to harvest the beaten down product of the flooded fields. Grain already cut is sprouting, and a few more days such as we have lately had would render the crops worthless for bread making purposes. It is not only rain, but wind, that has completed the ruin of the farmers in Kent. The hops might have stood up against the rain, continuous as it was, but they have been ruthlessly beaten down by the prevalent storms, and whole gardens, which a short time ago promised fair returns, are, to-day, hopelessly battered. Nor has the fruit culture escaped the scourge, apples, pears and peaches being, by the British farmer that England's adversity is America's opportunity, and reports which reach this country of the magnificent harvests in the United States do not relieve the despair with which the British farmer looks upon his own wasted land.

France's Impure Literature.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—A league has been formed in France for the suppression of all forms of impure literature, photographs, etc., the traffic in which has, of late, increased to an alarming extent. The headquarters of the league are in Paris and there are branches in all the large cities. M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, is extending his aid to the league by ordering the police to overhaul the news stands in all cities and destroy everything savoring of indecency.

Cattle Steamer in a Storm.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The freight steamer Gloucester City, from New York August 22, has arrived at Bristol, after experiencing frightful storms. She carried a large cargo of cattle in stalls on her deck under sheds. On the seventh day out a heavy sea swept the deck and 51 oxen were washed overboard. Many others were injured and the ship's boats were smashed. The board of trade has ordered an inquiry into the circumstances, the carrying of the cattle on deck being contrary to regulations.

Mantlicher Rifle to be Tested Again.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The British war office has decided, in view of the recent Chilean battles, to give a more thorough test to the Mantlicher rifle, with a view to its future adoption by the British infantry, if found satisfactory. Accounts indicate that the Mantlicher is superior to the Liebel rifle, and it is stated that the war office is very much in favor of it.

The Usual Sunday Riot.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Eastbourne had its usual Sunday Salvation Army riot, to-day, or was threatened with it. As soon as the army started from the barracks to go on their march crowds gathered as usual and began to hoot and revile the Salvationists. The police persuaded the latter to return to their barracks, and after a few rows the mob dispersed.

Large Donations to Brisbane University. LONDON, Sept. 6.—Over £1,000 yearly and 100,000 acres of crown lands have been donated by the government to the university at Brisbane, Queensland. This liberality is considered sufficient to insure the future of the institution.

ALARMING INTELLIGENCE!

Thousands of Canadians Dropping Off!

They Die Owing to Improper Treatment!

Educated and thinking Canadians are alarmed, and have become thoroughly aroused of late, owing to the large number of sudden and unexpected deaths. We are indeed forced to admit matters look terribly serious for the future of our country. Our intelligent people who can discern the signs of the times, must not be called alarmists; they are true patriots and honest citizens, having at heart the moral and material welfare of our Dominion.

They clearly perceive that thousands of our men and women are yearly consigned to the silent grave, and know that thousands of others are ready to follow, who are now struggling in a deadly whirlpool, where they must soon be engulfed, unless some extraordinary effort is put forth to save them.

Improper heart action, or heart failure, is the terrible agent which is now creating such havoc, and so rapidly decimating our population. Physicians know well that this dreadful malady is on the increase, and they look with alarm on the situation. This fatal visitor, "heart failure," is in reality an awful nerve disease; it means unstrung and shattered nerves, and a complete nervous prostration; in many cases it is paralysis of body and heart.

The first warnings or symptoms of this very prevalent disease should not be trifled with; they are serious and dangerous, and no time should be lost in obtaining relief.

The premonitory symptoms of heart failure are weak nerves, intermittent pulse, dull brain action, lightness in the head, giddiness, faint, weak feelings, short difficult breathing, pains and palpitation in the region of the heart, a drowsy feeling during day time, and sleeplessness and unrest at nights. Some are easily startled and nervous; others are continually experiencing a feeling of some danger coming on, and have constant anxiety and apprehension.

Failure to note any of these symptoms—neglect of true monitors, will certainly result in heart disease and death.

All the symptoms above noted are a result of nerve depression—a lack of nerve power. The nerves and brain should, at all times, receive that food which they require, so as to keep the heart action in a healthy condition. When this is accomplished, there can be no danger from heart failure. Physicians have not been able to grapple with this terrible malady when obliged to rely on their own formulae and medicines. Many medical men honestly advise their patients to use Paine's Celery Compound, as they are perfectly acquainted with its powers, and are aware that its use offers the only hope of cure for weak and irregular heart action.

No other remedy ever brought before the notice of mankind possesses such wonderful merits and extraordinary powers. It is the only remedy for weak nerves and clouded brain that is positively guaranteed to act promptly and give the desired results. No other remedy can boast of such great successes and marvellous cures as Paine's Celery Compound, and its grand record should give faith and courage to all Canadians who experience the slightest symptoms of that dreaded disease, heart failure. Do not delay its use an hour, your condition is critical, and time is precious.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

The Much-Talked-of Abduction Case
Opened in the Police Court.

August May Tells his Story—The Girl Has Again Disappeared.

"The abduction case" was the talk of almost every one, yesterday, and many and widely differing were the opinions expressed regarding it. The common impression seems to be that there is something behind the charge now being investigated, and hence the progress of the case is watched with unusual interest.

When Fried was called in the police court, yesterday morning, Mr. W. J. Taylor appeared by his side to conduct his defence. The Crown was represented by Mr. J. P. Walls. Occupying a chair at the right of Mr. Walls, was August May, a sturdy, black whiskered German, the father of the girl over whom the trouble arises. Much to the disappointment of the court room audience, Hattie May herself was not present, and, stranger still, both prosecution and defence claim to be entirely ignorant of her whereabouts.

The counsel for the Crown was proceeding to open his case, when the magistrate, Mr. Belyea, interrupted. He had, he said, a statement to make before he could proceed to the hearing of the questions involved. The matter first came before him on Friday; there was no intimation then of a crime such as charged in the information. The matter was of an entirely different character. Was the offence upon which the Crown was now proceeding alleged to have been committed before or after he was consulted by May?

Mr. Walls—The crime was committed before you were seen—the abduction took place on Monday week, from Seattle.

Mr. Belyea—At the time I was consulted, on Friday morning, the father had not seen Fried or his daughter. If the charge goes back before I was interviewed I will not hear it.

Mr. Taylor could see no objection to his honor remaining upon the bench.

Mr. Walls, proceeding to the issue, said that the evidence he would produce was that August May, a carpenter living in Seattle, had lost his daughter, a pretty girl of between 15 and 16 years. The details of her departure from home were related, as already published in the Colonist. The father came to look for her in Victoria, and found her wearing dresses and jewelry which she was not possessed of when she left Seattle, and which were not befitting her station in life. On Friday afternoon the girl accompanied her father to the post office, and consented to go home with him, asking only time to get her own clothes and pack up. She said she would rejoin him in an hour, and left his side, and he saw her go straight to Fried's barber shop. Finding that the girl did not come back, the father again made his way to Fried's house and asked if Hattie was there. Mrs. Fried told him "No." He went again, in company with a police officer, and saw the girl. Then—a most peculiar thing—on Saturday night Mrs. Fried produced the girl, the father not having been able to find her in the meantime. Hattie was with Mrs. Fried at the police station when Fried was arrested, and the last seen of her she disappeared up Broad street. All of which went to show that the Frieds had control of and were harboring the girl, contrary to law.

August May was the first witness called. He asked to be allowed an interpreter, as he knew but little English, and understood less. Mr. Walls said he had anticipated the difficulty by procuring an interpreter, but counsel for the defence objected. May could understand by trying a little, he said, and his honor, remarking that he had had no difficulty in making the prosecutor understand English, sustained the objection.

The evidence of Mr. May was commenced at 12 o'clock. He said that he came here Friday to take his daughter home. Reaching Victoria at 4 a.m., he went to the Angel Hotel until 8, and then called at the police station. There, he was told to come again in an hour and a half and see the Chief, and was by him referred to the police magistrate, whom he saw in his room at the City Hall. His honor told him to call at his law office, and when he did so, told him that he would get out papers, and they would cost him $20. This he could not well afford. He went to Fried's house and found his daughter there. Fried was there too, it was about dinner time, and he said he would give her up and she could go home with witness. After a few minutes he heard Fried tell the girl to go along with him, and he (Fried) would see a lawyer at once and fix it to get her back. The daughter went with witness to the post office. She declared that she was willing to accompany him, and only wanted time to pack up her few things. She left him to do this, and he saw her go straight to Fried's barber shop. After waiting a while witness went back to Fried's house, and Mrs. Fried said she had not been there. Then, in company with Officer McNeill, he paid the house a second call and saw the girl. She said she would not go. She had got a lawyer. Mrs. Fried also came to the door and called him bad names. This was the last time he saw the girl. She had always lived at home with the exception of about two months, when she was staying with Mrs. Fried's sister. As soon as he learned what kind of people they were he took her away. The girl left Seattle with Mrs. Fried's sister—who had no money of her own. Hattie was 15 years, six months and a few days' old—a pretty girl, and well developed for her age.

Cross-examined by Mr. Taylor, witness said that he had worked in various places, which he named, during the past two years. The other boys and girls worked, and brought in their money to the home. So did this girl when she was working. She gave her money to her mother who supplied her with what she needed. (Mr. Taylor was proceeding to a searching examination, when the witness flung his arms into the air, ejaculating, "You make me crazy! I tell all I know, but I can't tell what I do not understand. Get some German so I can spoke to him.")

Counsel for the defence continued to press for information as to the places where witness had been working lately, and he said Portland, Seattle and Port Crescent. He was not a drinking man, though he had no objection to taking a few glasses of beer with friends. Had used no bad language to Mrs. Fried. Fried did not refuse to give up the girl, but told the girl to go along and he would get a lawyer to get her back.

After an adjournment for luncheon, the cross-examination proceeded. Mr. Walls first issued a couple of subpoenas, remarking that he thought they were at last on track of the girl, whom he proposed to call as a witness. She might give material testimony, and it was, therefore, not hard to see why she had been spirited away.

Mr. Taylor repudiated the insinuation.

His client, he observed, had not the least knowledge of the girl's whereabouts.

August May's cross-examination continued—He had never whipped or punished his child or called her names. Last winter, the girl learned typewriting. Then she went to making paper boxes, and the proprietor of the factory wanted to marry her. This man was about 54 or more, and he (witness) told his wife she should have kicked him out. Had Hattie stayed home, it was her intention to go to work in a lithographing establishment, where her sister and brother were employed. The girl had always been a good girl at home.

Counsel here pressed for answers to some questions which witness apparently did not understand. He answered at random once or twice, and then, facing the lawyer, exclaimed savagely, "Don't banter me no more; I can't stand too much. All I want is to get my child, and do what's right." The cross-examination was very shortly afterwards closed.

In re-examination, Mr. Walls brought out that when witness consulted Mr. Belyea, that gentleman, after certain papers had been drawn up and signed, told him he would send for Fried, and also that his fee would be $20. Witness made no reply at the time and sent for the money. After seeing Hattie the second time he returned to Mr. Belyea, and told him that he would pay the $20 if he was first given a guarantee that he would recover his daughter. He thoroughly understood the information sworn to before Mr. Shotbolt; it was to get the girl back and punish Fried for taking her from him. He did not want the girl home to help support him in idleness; he wanted her home because it was her home.

To the Court—It was about noon when I left your office. I went to Fried's house, and saw the girl; I told her if she'd come home with me it would save me $20. She said she would come, and accompanied me to the post office. Then she went into the barber shop after leaving me. I waited about half an hour and then went to the house again.

John M. Langley, Supt. of Provincial Police, deposed—"On Friday morning I met defendant Fried at the corner of Bastion and Government streets. Fried stopped me and said, 'What would you do if you had a girl in your house and her father wanted to get her?' I asked him how old she was, and he said 'about sixteen.' I said 'If the father wants the girl, you'd better let him have her.' I said if he detained her it would be harboring the girl. We parted, and about 5.30 p.m. I sent Officer McNeill up to Fried's house with May. A little while after I met Fried again, and asked him 'What about that girl?' Fried said 'You sent Officer McNeill up to my house.' I replied 'I did.' 'Well,' he said, 'I don't want the girl, the police can have her.' Then he added, 'I don't know about it, though. I've got the advice of a lawyer; in fact, two.' I said, 'Fried, I don't understand you; you say first that you don't want the girl, and then that you have got lawyers' advice, and she can't be taken from you.' I then bade him good evening, and walked back to my office.

Mr. Walls said that he would reserve his other evidence until the next sitting of the court, and hoped before long to find the girl. The police would spare neither time, money nor labor in the search. He asked for an adjournment, which was granted until to-day. The bail remains as before.

UNWILLING APPROVAL.

We observe with pleasure that, censorious
as the Opposition is, it does not find fault with the course which the Government is pursuing with respect to the Ottawa scandals, and those who are implicated in them; and, suspicious as it is, it does not express a doubt respecting the sincerity of the Government's determination to do all in its power to put down corruption. There is something singular in this, for the Opposition to Sir John Macdonald's Government and the present Government, was never remarkable for its moderation. It frequently condemned when it ought to commend,
and it affected to be suspicious when there was not the slightest ground for doubt. It was fault-finding and it was captious. Let the Government do what it might, it never had the candor to give it credit for even good intentions. What change has come over Canadian Liberals? Have they, all at once, become fair and frank? Have they seen the folly and the futility of perpetual carping and doubting? We hope so.
Or have the proceedings of the Government in the present crisis been so judicious and so prompt—have they evinced so much earnestness and sincerity that the critics have come to the conclusion that it would be foolish and inconsistent in them to condemn measures which were so clearly in accordance with the principles which they, themselves, professed to hold, and that to throw doubt upon the Government's earnestness and sincerity would be to lead the public to suspect the honesty of their own professions of zeal in the cause of pure Government. In fact the course which the organs of the Opposition are now pursuing is so unusual that it is impossible to account for it, except that they have, at last, come to the conclusion that the policy of the Government is so wise, and so well calculated to lessen the evil of which the whole country is complaining, that to criticize their acts adversely would be to do both the critics themselves and the Liberal party irreparable injury.

A MODERN MIRACLE.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has performed what a few years ago would have been looked upon as a miracle. To cross this continent, from ocean to ocean, in eighty-eight hours was, indeed, a wonderful feat. If any one twenty years ago, or even less, had predicted that this would be done he would be scouted as an idle dreamer or a man on the verge of insanity. Practical men would declare, with perfect confidence, that the thing could not be done—that it was a sheer impossibility. No one who had any regard for the esteem of his friends or for his reputation as a practical man and a man of sense, when the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway was first mooted, would have had the temerity to say that he might live to see the day when the journey from Yokohama to New York would be made in thirteen days. The scientific enthusiasts who believed that this could be done and might come to pass while he lived, would hardly venture to give utterance to his convictions.
He knew if he did he would be the butt of the ridicule of one half of his acquaintances, while the other half would eye him with suspicion and advice his relatives to look after him. Yet when these same people are now told that it is possible that a letter posted in Japan will, after being conveyed across two oceans and the widest part of the great continent of North America, be delivered in London twenty-one days after it was written, they will smilingly acquiesce in the statement, and not consider it such a very great marvel after all. It will be done in their own day and under their own eyes, and therefore is not greatly to be wondered at. But the speed and the certainty with which that letter can be conveyed to its destination are wonderful, and bear the most striking testimony to the scientific progress of the age, and to the skill, the energy and the enterprise of the men who have been chiefly instrumental in working this wonder of our time.

This triumph of engineering skill, political agacity and commercial enterprise is fraught with consequences which the wisest and most far-seeing men in the world are only beginning to guess at. What its ultimate results may be it is impossible even to conjecture. One thing, however, is already certain, and that is, that the men who projected the Canadian Pacific Railway, and in the face of the most formidable difficulties of all kinds, courageously carried it on to completion, worked better than even they knew, and must now and hereafter, be regarded as among the most efficient promoters of the advancement and the welfare, not of Canada alone, but of the whole British empire.

THE SOCIALISTIC CONGRESS.

The British delegates at the Brussels Labor Congress were not in sympathy with the Continental representatives of labor.
Socialistic doctrines are not well received by any class in Great Britain. The ardent Socialists, even among working men, are few in number, and they are not popular.
British workmen, like the rest of their fellow-countrymen, are practical. They care very little for mere theories, no matter how high-sounding they are. What they want in the way of reform is something that can be had now, and they are willing to "go slow." If they cannot get all they want at once, they will take what they can obtain, and are content to wait until they can advance another step. Their continental neighbors reproach them for being too cold and too patient, and they also declare petulantly that the British are illogical.
But, illogical as he is, the Briton has advanced much further on the road
of true freedom than has the citizen of any other country. Under his system of compromises, which ardent theorists of all nations despise and deride, he has kept continually going ahead. He has taken what it was possible to get, and he has kept what he has gained. Between him and the men of the continental nations of Europe
the race has been like that between the hare and the tortoise. The continental Socialist who wants everything gets nothing, while the British reformer asks for what is reasonable and attainable, and gets it, or something very near it.

At the Brussels Congress the proposals of the leading men, who were socialists and not true labor reformers, were wild and impracticable. The French, German and Italian delegates persisted in advocating extreme measures, and would have the Congress commit itself to principles and measures that would have had the effect of alarming
the conservative classes in every country, and consequently of bringing the cause of Labor into disrepute. The British delegates, it appears, almost alone, opposed resolutions in which the principles and designs of Socialism were broadly and strongly expressed, and, although they were in a minority, such was the moral influence excised by them, that the leading resolution was changed to meet their views. The following is the amended resolution which was carried by acclamation and with the greatest enthusiasm:—

"This Congress, recognising the existence of a class struggle, and convinced that, as long as class rule prevails the emancipation of the working classes will be impossible, declares that the law enacted, and the decisions issued in various countries since the Paris International Congress, held in 1889,
do not in any respect meet the aspirations of the workers. That although the Berlin Conference, as admitted by those who themselves initiated it, met under the pressure exercised by the International Labor Congresses, and may therefore be regarded as an important concession to public opinion, the results have demonstrated that existing Governments do not wish to effect necessary reforms, and that on the other hand
the resolutions of the Berlin Conference have been used as a pretext by certain manufacturing countries to arrest the development of labor protective legislation
by invoking the decisions of the Berlin Conference, and pointing to the defects in the legislation of competing countries.
Moreover, this Congress affirms that, in cases in which legislation is not defective, its application is allowed to remain inoperative.
For these reasons this Congress urges upon the workers of all countries to agitate for the realization of the programme laid down by the Paris Congress, if only to make it clear to the workers that the governing and exploiting classes are hostile to legislation effectively protecting the interests of labor, whereas it is necessary to give to the International Labor Movement a common impulse, especially in the direction of protective labor legislation. Therefore, let it be resolved by this Congress (1) to organize in every country a permanent commission of inquiry concerning the conditions of labor in its relation to working-class legislation;
(2) to collect, collate, and exchange all necessary information, with a view to the development and unification of all the said legislation; (3) this Congress recommends the wage-workers of the whole world to unite their efforts against the domination of capital, and wherever they enjoy political rights, to exercise them with the object of gaining their emancipation from wage-dom."

Most people will believe that the parts of this resolution which are definite are quite strong enough, but they are moderation itself as compared with the wild theories expressed and apparently approved of by the majority of the delegates. Most people will admit that it is right to enquire into the conditions of labor in their relation to legislation, and they will see no harm in working men trying to effect an amelioration of their condition by means of legislation, but how legislatures are going to emancipate wage-workers from the rule of "wage-dom" is more than men of ordinary understanding can comprehend. It is beyond the power of legislation to make every man who is able and willing to work
a capitalist, and it has not yet been vouchsafed to any more mortal to see how legislatures can devise that great undertaking and industrial establishments can be carried on by workmen who have no capital. Even if the state supplied the capital, the share which each workman would get might not be called "wages,"

but it would be payment for labor done,
and, who is to tell, whether, under state socialism such as this is, the industrious workman would get as much as he does now? The Socialists seem to forget that the State can create nothing. All it can do is to administer; and it does not manage the concerns with which it is entrusted so well that men should greatly desire to widen the sphere of its operations.

Torpedo Practice.

The two torpedo boats stationed at Esquimalt were out for practice, yesterday, and proved efficient in every particular. The operations were inspected by some of the naval officers now in port. The torpedoes have been in Chilean waters, but their services were not called into requisition.

Again in Collision.

The steamer Mexico passed down from Alaska to the Sound, Sunday, having every cabin filled by tourists. The accident which befell her was another collision with bergs in Glacier Bay, the result of which was slight damage to the steamer's bow just above the water line. She will be beached and repaired at once.

Over a Thousand Skins.

The sealing schooner Ariel returned home rejoicing on Sunday morning, with 1,082 skins below her decks, a very satisfactory total when it is remembered that she did not get out until late in the season, owing to an accident which necessitated extensive repairs. She was ordered out of the Behring's Sea by the U. S. steamer Rush on August 16th, and sailed for home four days later, in company with the Favorite, which stopped at Esquimalt to land the Indians.

Ask the Postmaster.

Postmaster Shakespeare yesterday morning had three or four letters on his desk containing inquiries as to the whereabouts and well being of absent friends, it being a matter with some of them of mere speculation whether or not the parties were or had been resident here. Moreover, remarked the postmaster, many of the writers fail to enclose a postage stamp for a reply, none of them appearing to care to incur the expense of advertising for those they esteem so dear. The P. M. is manifestly of the opinion of the old Southern Cross Roads schoolmaster, that this sort of thing is played out.

For the North.

Application has been made on behalf of the owners of the schooner Henrietta for clearance papers to the North Pacific ocean. She will have a crew of eleven men, and will be under command of Captain Morehouse. When the papers were demanded, Collector Milne stated to the captain that he had been informed his destination was Behring's Sea, where if he went he would be punished, not the slightest mercy or consideration being extended to him. Even should he escape the cruisers and sealing, he would be dealt with when he got back here. The crew will, it is expected, be shipped to-day.

Rumor had it, yesterday, that Captain Hansen was endeavoring to arrange for a sailing schooner to visit the North, the story being current that he was bound for the St. Paul islands and other points frequented by seal.

The Kootenay Country.

Mr. T. S. Gore, Deputy Commissioner of Lands and Works, who, as already reported, has been visiting Nelson and the surrounding country, reports that the Silver King mine has a 600 feet tunnel, with cross cuts about 20 feet each way, rich in copper and silver. A smelter is, he says, much needed at this point, to enable the mine to be worked to advantage. A good wagon road has been constructed to the foot of Tond Mountain by the Government and the Kootenay Bonanza Company, the former having expended the $5,000 voted last session. This road will enable supplies to be taken into all the mines and give facilities for bringing out the mineral. There is a great deal of traffic and travel up the Columbia River and across the Arrow Lake, the steamboats being very comfortable and well appointed. Mr. Gore was in Nelson three days. It is becoming a very lively place and will, he is of opinion, extend to considerable proportions and be of some importance.

Arrival of H.M.S. Garnet.

H.M.S. Garnet arrived at Esquimalt, on Sunday afternoon, and anchored in the harbor. She is a vessel of 2,100 tons register, registered 3rd class, and commanded by Capt. Hughes-Hallett. The crew, all told, numbers 230 men, and the vessel carries 14 5-in. bore guns, with four heavy pieces of ordnance. The Garnet has come from Chilean waters, but has no war news, not having seen any of the fighting. In fact, some of the officers were surprised to hear, on entering port, of the Balmaceda episode, and some other items which are now stale news. When they were at Coquimbo, the Congressionalists were reported as at Colera, and there were quite a number of troops around, but no fighting. At San Diego, they heard that Balmaceda had skipped and was making inland for Baños Ayres, but they had heard nothing of the English warship being the custodian of the defeated leader's boat. The voyage of the Garnet was an uneventful one. She experienced some heavy fogs and pretty rough weather, but nothing very serious. The vessel is at present taking in coal, and looks her worst in a fog of coal dust, with every person and thing on deck as dirty-looking and black as can be. But the coaling will be over this morning, and, when cleaning up is over, she will well repay a visit. She is a fairly old vessel, this being her fourth commission as a cruiser. Her first was on the southeast coast of America, next in the West Indies, then in the East Indies, and now on the Pacific Coast. She is a good, sea-going boat, and can make twelve knots an hour without being over-taxed.

Said He Would "Fix" Him.

A young man named Graham Smith was before the police magistrate, yesterday, for threatening to "fix" R. McKenzie Munro. He was bound over to keep the peace in the sum of $200, the hearing of the charge being deferred until to-day.

A Rumor Without Foundation.

The schooner Otto, which it was rumored on Sunday last had come to grief off the north-west coast of Vancouver Island, is reported to be all right by her owner, Mr. Walter Boms. He says he has every reason to believe that she is in Behring's Sea and doing well.

The Thunder Hill Mine.

The Golden, B. C., Era, says:—"In our issue of the 15th August, we stated that negotiations were in hand for the sale of this property to Victoria capitalists. We are now pleased to state, on the authority of Mr. James Brady, C. E., who is here from Victoria, that the proposals made by him have been accepted in his city, and that this mine will be worked at once and throughout the winter. In the spring a large concentrating mill will be erected, and the mine's production properly treated. The output will be very considerable.

Offered a Bribe.

James Sako, a young Japanese, was brought before the police magistrate, yesterday, charged with stealing a gold watch from A. Washby, one of the owners of the sealer Borealis. The evidence of Washby was that Sako rowed him out to the schooner, which lies at anchor in the upper harbor, and, having no company, he (Washby) invited him to turn in for the night. In the morning Washby awoke, and Sako, watch and the boat were gone. He called to people on shore, and they finally brought a boat to land him. The watch was found concealed on the prisoner's person by Sgt. Hawton and Officer Redgrave, both of whom swore that he offered them first $25 and then $65 to let him go. He was committed for trial.

A Big Mining Deal.

A big mining deal is going on at Illecillewaet. The Jumbo is said to be sold for $200,000. For some time past an English mining syndicate has been looking at the Jumbo mine at Illecillewaet, owned by Corbin and Kennedy. In the spring Mr. A. P. Wilson, of Walker, Peel & Wilson, of Whitehaven, Cumberland, England, inspected the mine in the interests of the company. He was highly pleased with the appearance of the property, and was not slow in making the possibilities of the camp known. As a result of his reports, Mr. John Grant and Mr. John B. Sanderson, of London, Eng., the latter representing a wealthy mining syndicate, accompanied by Mr. James Bennallack, of Grass Valley, Nevada County, Cal., paid a visit to this camp this week to examine the Jumbo, with a view to purchasing the property. The formation of rock is the best he has ever seen, and if the Illecillewaet mines were in California they would be producing millions of dollars to-day.—Kootenay Star.

Seattle Will be Represented.

A hose team is being organized from the old volunteer firemen of Seattle to attend the meeting and tournament of the Northwestern Firemen's Association, to be held at Victoria, B.C., September 27, 28 and 29, and to contest for honors and prizes offered by the association. It is proposed to select the best men from the volunteers and send a crack team. Yesterday the firemen borrowed a lot of old hose from Chief Kellogg and will begin practicing and preparing themselves for the contest. Chief Kellogg will accompany the team in the capacity of volunteer fireman. As the association is composed of only volunteer firemen, none of the paid fire departments throughout the territory included will be represented. The territory from which the association draws its membership embraces Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia. From the present indications this annual meeting of the association will be more largely attended than any since the organization was effected.—Seattle Telegraph.

Coal at Chemainus.

For some time past an elderly gentleman has been residing near Chemainus, who has had considerable experience in mining in the United States, but who, being in receipt of a pension from the British Government, was obliged to live on British soil. Recently he and Rev. D. Holmes were discussing the subject of coal and the known and probable deposits of it on Vancouver Island. Mr. Holmes remarked that if there were coal thereabouts it was just as likely to be on his property as anywhere else. Accordingly some experimental boring was done with the result that coal, said to be of excellent quality, was discovered, at from 35 to 50 feet from the surface, and further investigation showed it to be in great quantity, the seam being a very thick one. The gentleman who made the discovery offered, it is said, to secure all the capital necessary to develop and work the mine. Meantime, it is understood, that further prospecting will be done before any definite arrangements are entered into.

B.C. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Preparing for a Grand Display of Agriculture, Manufactures, and General Products.

A Grand Programme of Amusements. Horse-racing, Athletic Sports—Firemen's Tournament, &c.

A meeting of the B. C. Agricultural Society was held in the City Hall, yesterday evening, President Ker in the chair. There were also present Messrs. C. Hayward, C. E. Renouf, Wm. Templeman, John Braden, W. J. Pendray, R. B. Seabrook, John Kirkland, N. Shakespeare, and Wm. Dalby. The business consisted chiefly of the arrangement of the programme, and, from the draft submitted, it is evident that the show will be one of the most attractive in the province. No trouble or expense is being spared to attain this object, and, judging from the unusually large number of applications for space and the variety of exhibits listed, the exhibition cannot fail to prove most attractive. The various railway and steamship companies are offering special facilities to visitors, the C. P. R. running from all points west of Calgary at a single fare. Not alone will those attending the Exposition be treated to an excellent programme of sports, including horse racing, but they will have an opportunity of inspecting the products and manufactures of our own and other countries. The buildings are spacious and well laid out, and the Driving Park of the B. C. Jockey Club will be available to all ticket holders to the Agricultural Society's show, there will be ample accommodation for all comers. The grounds are easy of access. The electric tram takes visitors to the show grounds, and special arrangements are made for refreshments and good substantial hot meals. At last night's meeting the subject of the purchase and laying of water pipe from the main to the exhibition grounds was referred to the building committee, with power to act. The sports committee submitted their programme, which was approved. A letter was received from the Jockey Club, offering to throw open their gates and give receipts to the society, on payment, as proposed, of $800, the society undertaking to pay any deficit there might be. The club retains the profits of the bar and grand stand, and estimate their expenditure at $1,500. The arrangements are that the one admission fee shall admit to all parts of the show and the horse races. This proposal was accepted. A letter was also read from the C.P.R. authorities offering round trips from points west of Calgary for single fare. There was but one tender received for the refreshment stall, and this not being considered satisfactory it was not accepted. Several tenders were received for the supply of music, all of which were referred to the music committee. The appointment of help on the grounds and in the sheds, was left in the hands of the chairman and secretary.

THE INDIAN RESERVE.

TO THE EDITOR:—An Indian talks as sensibly as a paleface, and says: "When the white man came here we were nearly a thousand in number; now not a twentieth remain; had the white man not come, we should still be a thousand strong. He brought vile diseases and poisonous spirits, which killed my people. You prate about the benefits conferred! Did you come here for our benefit? You know you did not. When you came we surrendered our land for a few blankets, and you gave us this piece of land, upon which we now exist, promising, by written deed, that it should be for us and our descendants for ever. Do you mean to be dishonorable—to break your solemn agreement? True, we are weak now and helpless,—our manhood and our people have been destroyed by what you call civilization! Were we as strong as we used to be and you as weak as formerly, you dare not speak as you do now, or attempt to deceive us. Have we not always treated you kindly? Did not we do so when you were entirely at our mercy? Vipers, this is our reward. We are glad to see Victoria growing—pleased to find cultivated fields; the land of which supplied us with roots and provisions. They are gone from us now—we sold them, reserving, however, certain rights of hunting, which you would even now ignore. Although these lands have become valuable, have we ever asked you to give us any more pay for them? Have we not allowed you peaceable possession? Does your boasted honor not prompt you to do the same with us? It is a very one-sided and curious sort of honor! You say our land has increased in value, and you want it, the excuse being the desire of enlarged limits for the town. Well give us the present value of our land, and we may make a bargain, but we will not have any arbitration by interested parties. You have killed our ancestors, but you have made the land valuable, not, however, for our, but your own sake. How many people hold land which they do not improve and yet receive the benefit of surrounding improvements? Have our people the same right as these? We have more, because you made roads, streets, bridges for them, supplied them with water, light and sewerage. Have you done anything of the kind for us? You pale-faces know that you all take the increased value of your town lots and put it into the pockets of the few who have attempted to take your lots away at less than its full value, how you would squeal, and yet, very likely, you have not improved this property one bit. You speculate to get hold of our land too! But you won't get it whilst the Government retains its honor and adheres to its solemn engagement, and you know perfectly well that when the railroad wanted to give the owners of unimproved land the original cost of the land how the owners kicked! They did not agree that because the railway improved their property, therefore the railway was entitled to the value of the improvements. The railway had to pay. It is of no use talking, we are as much entitled to the improved value of our land as they,—socialistic and abstract principles do not pertain to us. Covetousness it is that makes you sink into oblivion your boasted honor, this being only used when compulsion refuses. You would batter your so-called honor, honesty, principle—nay, even your soul—for gold; and yet you have churches and parsons! What we will do with the money? What is this to you! We will settle this matter with the Dominion and Provincial governments, our protection and our shield. We have taken lessons in civilization, if not by teaching, at all events by observation, and mean to make use of them. You are the savages now, although covered with disgusting mental and bodily habits. J. S. H.

Discredit His Story.

A resident of Toronto street, James Bay, complained to Officer Carter, yesterday, that he was "held up" at the point of a pistol, while on his way home, at about 9 o'clock Saturday night. He says that, as soon as he saw the revolver, he took to his heels, and got safely away. The police discredit his story.

The Age of Excursions.

The free excursion to Stevenson by the Yosemite, yesterday, was well patronized, and the sale is pronounced a great one. There is now a prospect that the Victoria-Yankee lacrosse match will be arranged for one of the days of the Bernhardt engagement, and a cheap excursion from this city is being arranged. In view of the double attraction it would no doubt draw well.

The Zambesi Libelled.

The steamer Zambesi of the Upton line reached port on her outward voyage yesterday, and was libelled immediately upon her arrival for $20,000, by the owners of the Fanny Dutard, with which she came in collision two weeks ago. It is thought that an agreement will be effected to-day by which the steamer will be enabled to proceed to the Orient to-morrow.

ALASKA NEWS.

Governor Knapp's Son Threatened with a Coat of Tar and Feathers.

Custom House on Mary's Island—Two American Schooners Seized and Taken to Sitka.

Steamship Mexico, which arrived from Alaska on Sunday, brought the following news:—

Sitka, the Alaska capital, furnishes a first-class family scandal, involving Lyman K. Knapp, Governor of Alaska, his son, George Knapp, until recently special deputy collector of customs, and other equally prominent citizens of Alaska.

One year ago George Knapp married Miss Patton, a school teacher at Sitka, sister of the wife of ex-United States Commissioner Brady. Later Mrs. Knapp presented her husband with a male heir, and the latter accused his wife of infidelity, and while the woman was ill brutally assaulted her in a violent manner. Neighbors interfered, but the husband would not desist until arrested upon the complaint of ex-commissioner Brady.

Governor Knapp and several high officers appeared for the defendant. The court discharged young Knapp. The citizens of Sitka were thoroughly aroused and a mass meeting at the town hall was held, and it was finally concluded to treat George Knapp to a coat of tar and feathers. The presence of the marines from the revenue cutter Pinta prevented trouble.

A citizens committee waited on Knapp and demanded that he leave Sitka. He accepted the invitation and was dismissed from the customs service. Every effort to settle the difficulty with the citizens was made by Governor Knapp, but without avail, and his son, accompanied by his mother, came down on the str. Mexico. He says:—

"The statements published in the Alaska papers are totally false. I was not dismissed from the customs service, but had tendered my resignation several months ago, to take effect Sept. 1. John Brady, formerly collector of customs, since my marriage done everything in his power and has at last succeeded in destroying my life's happiness. He is now arrested, but the case was dismissed on evidence adduced by the prosecution, and Brady paid the costs."

The customs authorities have selected a site on Mary's Island, Alaska, near the British Columbia boundary, for a customs house and other Government buildings. Schooner Alice leaves Port Townsend in a few days with material to construct the buildings at a cost of $8,000.

John D. Baker, formerly of Baker City, and now customs inspector aloft on the steamer Mexico, has been appointed deputy collector at Mary's Island.

Deputy Customs Collector C. H. Bullard has been authorized to select a site at Sand Point, on Schinagan Island, for customs building.

Two American vessels, the brig La Nymph and schooner Ethel, were brought to Sitka under seizure from Behring Sea, by officers of the revenue cutter Corwin. The vessels were detected sealing in the sea, and refused to leave when ordered away by the cutter. They were libeled by the United States, and the cases will be called at the next term of court in Sitka.

Edward DeGaff, commissioner of Alaska, to the world's fair, will come down on the next steamer en route to Chicago.

Lieut. Emmons, of the revenue cutter Pinta, has gathered a large amount of Alaskan curios for exhibition at the world's fair.

The Alaskan salmon pack this year will exceed the output of last season.

PORT CRESCENT JOTTINGS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PORT CRESCENT, Sept. 5.—The development of the Pacific slope of the Olympian peninsula is one of the marked features of the present year, and the future will demonstrate that one of the richest regions of the State will thus be brought tributary to human needs. Many of the valleys are as rich as Puyallup, and Washington sunshine and moisture combine to make them productive. The Northern Pacific railway line for Gray's Harbor to this point on the Straits of Juan de Fuca will furnish the outlet for this fertile section.

This summer Michigan was here, yesterday, on its regular trip, and took a shipment of cedar lumber from the Port Crescent mill for the Portland market.

R. McDonnell has a formal opening, to-morrow, of his hotel at Lake Crescent, which has just been completed.

Miss Margaret Carrigan, the accomplished sister of Mr. M. J. Carrigan, of the Port Crescent Leader, who has been visiting here, started this morning for her home at Chillicothe, Ohio.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Summary of Henry Clews & Co.'s Circular Dated New York, August 29.

Judging from present symptoms, there is a reasonable probability of the boom in the New York stock market being supported, and of an active and rising market being maintained throughout the fall season. Perhaps the only danger lies in the usual tendency of speculative movements to rush from one extreme to another and thereby quickly exhaust themselves. The spectacle of such an extraordinary harvest as the present one is naturally calculated to arouse a speculative enthusiasm which may carry prices up at railroad pace to an elevation far above what the economic really warrants. Such movements end in explosion and reaction, and entail heavy losses upon the over-optimistic class, to whom the over-doing is mainly due. Although the financial force behind the present speculation centres in the hands of some half-dozen men of great wealth, whose policy is to give encouragement and "tail" to the mass of sanguine operators, and then sell out upon their dopes. A prudent operator will regularly take his profits, and not use them as new margin for increased purchases so as to find himself finally among a mass of weak holders, who are unable to sustain the market against strong men who want to break prices. And at the present moment, there seems to be, in certain potent quarters, a desire to force and inflate the market and then get out of stocks. They are willing to pocket the advance that has come in sympathy with the harvest of winter wheat; but they think it prudent to let the immature spring wheat, corn and cotton crops stand over for a future speculation, the drift of which can be much better judged when the contingencies of frost have passed. The sanguine holder of a few hundred shares, who takes every good thing for as sure to happen, is the kind of element on which the more prudent and bigger fish fattens; and my word to these averaged sized operators is that they keep a sharp look out for the safety of their profits. The money market affords, on the whole, an encouraging outlook. The reserves of the banks have at last begun to decline freely under the strain of money to the interior, and large as the surplus is, it is necessary for the banks to depend upon being liberally reinforced with cash from some outside source. The main dependence of the banks must be upon the return of gold from Europe, which seems inevitable, the only open question being that of amount. The national exports are showing a large increase—those for July being $8,200,000 above the same month of 1890—while the July imports fall $11,200,000 below those of last year. The securities movement with London has, within the last few days, changed from one of return to that of export; and the rates for sterling exchange show a weakening tendency in sympathy.

H. M. S. Warspite.

The repairs to H. M. S. Warspite, now in the graving dock at Esquimalt, are progressing favorably. A large gang of men are employed at the work, seventeen of whom are from England, and, to hasten to completion the necessary repairs, the men are working overtime. In another couple of weeks it is expected she will be floated out of the dock. A rumor is current that the Admiralty are disposed to purchase the graving dock for its exclusive use, and that another will be constructed for general marine purposes. New coal sheds have been erected, and these having been filled to their utmost capacity, the black diamond is being piled along the wharf in vast quantities. The Queen Victoria, from Cardiff, is at present discharging a cargo of 2,500 tons of coal, while two other vessels, of 2,400 and 1,500 tons respectively, have just cleared out. It is estimated that there is at present stored at the station about 10,000 tons of coal. Three other cargoes of coal are expected.

John D. Baker, formerly of Baker City, and now customs inspector aloft on the steamer Mexico, has been appointed deputy collector at Mary's Island.

Deputy Customs Collector C. H. Bullard has been authorized to select a site at Sand Point, on Schinagan Island, for customs building.

Two American vessels, the brig La Nymph and schooner Ethel, were brought to Sitka under seizure from Behring Sea, by officers of the revenue cutter Corwin. The vessels were detected sealing in the sea, and refused to leave when ordered away by the cutter. They were libeled by the United States, and the cases will be called at the next term of court in Sitka.

Edward DeGaff, commissioner of Alaska, to the world's fair, will come down on the next steamer en route to Chicago.

Lieut. Emmons, of the revenue cutter Pinta, has gathered a large amount of Alaskan curios for exhibition at the world's fair.

The Alaskan salmon pack this year will exceed the output of last season.

PORT CRESCENT JOTTINGS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PORT CRESCENT, Sept. 5.—The development of the Pacific slope of the Olympian peninsula is one of the marked features of the present year, and the future will demonstrate that one of the richest regions of the State will thus be brought tributary to human needs. Many of the valleys are as rich as Puyallup, and Washington sunshine and moisture combine to make them productive. The Northern Pacific railway line for Gray's Harbor to this point on the Straits of Juan de Fuca will furnish the outlet for this fertile section.

This summer Michigan was here, yesterday, on its regular trip, and took a shipment of cedar lumber from the Port Crescent mill for the Portland market.

R. McDonnell has a formal opening, to-morrow, of his hotel at Lake Crescent, which has just been completed.

Miss Margaret Carrigan, the accomplished sister of Mr. M. J. Carrigan, of the Port Crescent Leader, who has been visiting here, started this morning for her home at Chillicothe, Ohio.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Summary of Henry Clews & Co.'s Circular Dated New York, August 29.

Judging from present symptoms, there is a reasonable probability of the boom in the New York stock market being supported, and of an active and rising market being maintained throughout the fall season. Perhaps the only danger lies in the usual tendency of speculative movements to rush from one extreme to another and thereby quickly exhaust themselves. The spectacle of such an extraordinary harvest as the present one is naturally calculated to arouse a speculative enthusiasm which may carry prices up at railroad pace to an elevation far above what the economic really warrants. Such movements end in explosion and reaction, and entail heavy losses upon the over-optimistic class, to whom the over-doing is mainly due. Although the financial force behind the present speculation centres in the hands of some half-dozen men of great wealth, whose policy is to give encouragement and "tail" to the mass of sanguine operators, and then sell out upon their dopes. A prudent operator will regularly take his profits, and not use them as new margin for increased purchases so as to find himself finally among a mass of weak holders, who are unable to sustain the market against strong men who want to break prices. And at the present moment, there seems to be, in certain potent quarters, a desire to force and inflate the market and then get out of stocks. They are willing to pocket the advance that has come in sympathy with the harvest of winter wheat; but they think it prudent to let the immature spring wheat, corn and cotton crops stand over for a future speculation, the drift of which can be much better judged when the contingencies of frost have passed. The sanguine holder of a few hundred shares, who takes every good thing for as sure to happen, is the kind of element on which the more prudent and bigger fish fattens; and my word to these averaged sized operators is that they keep a sharp look out for the safety of their profits. The money market affords, on the whole, an encouraging outlook. The reserves of the banks have at last begun to decline freely under the strain of money to the interior, and large as the surplus

LOCAL.

Tug Lorne will be ready to resume work in a few days.
Steamer Emma arrived in yesterday from Nanaimo and Salt Springs Island. She brought a load of stone for the outer wharf.
Steamer Minnie-haha brought in a scow load of lumber from Vancouver yesterday morning. Schooner Winnifred sailed for Clayoquot last evening, with a heavy cargo of general merchandise for Mr. Chas. Spring's station.
Steamer Daisy went to Chemainus, yesterday morning, for a scow load of lumber.
Steamer Lottie went to Nanaimo yesterday for coal.
Steamer San Pedro passed up to Nanaimo Sunday evening, to load coal for San Francisco.
Steamer Grandholm passed up to Vancouver Sunday evening.
The motor boat Mr. G. A. McTavish's yacht Rita had been seized for smuggling across the Sound, turns out a fake. The steamer's papers had been left at home, and the Rita was detained only until they were sent for.
Steamer Phantom was hauled up to Porter's wharf yesterday, where she will be refitted and made ready for service by Mr. John Robertson, who will at once commence work on her.

NOTES FROM DUNCAN'S.

(Special Correspondence of the Colonist.)
Mr. Whidden is hard at work on the new school-house, and is to have it completed by the 1st of October. It is to be much superior to any other school-house in the district. The painters and plasterers are busy on the court-house, which will soon be completed. This will be an ornament to the town. It is hoped that the two prison cells in the building will not be needed.
The atmosphere is at present laden with smoke, caused, it is supposed, by bush fires in the neighborhood.
Tuesday last will be a memorable day for the tribes of grouse resident in the district, and a sad one if the bark of the gun was not worse than its bite, for a large amount of ammunition was expended by our sportsmen. Contrary to the expectations of most sportsmen the grouse were found to be rather scarce, although some are of the opinion that they are still plentiful.
Some say that it would be a great advantage if the close season for grouse ended earlier, as they are full grown and away to the mountains long before the first of September. Some, also, say that the close season for willow grouse should be later than Sept. 1, the reason urged being that they are then still small and deserving of mercy.

Mr. James Flett has finished his new residence, and may now be called one of our permanent residents.
Considerable uneasiness seems to prevail among the Indians here on account of the fires they have had in their villages. They blame the Chinamen for it, and the latter appear afraid that the Indians may retaliate. One Indian reports that a man was seen by him attempting to fire his house. He says he looked like an Indian, and travelled with feet bare.
The fall show of the Cowichan and Salt Spring Agricultural Association is fixed for the 26th inst.

PLUMPER PASS.

To THE EDITOR.—The gushing and wordy effusiveness of the article in your issue of August 31st, under the above heading, signed "Mayne Island," contains such a gross misstatement relative to the road from the wharf to the light-house as the following: "Although it is to be regretted that one hundred dollars of this appropriation might have been put to better advantage had one settler not refused right of way, thereby causing the road to take a circuitous and unnecessary course of at least a mile," &c., &c. I am the settler referred to, and I most emphatically say such statement must be made with intention to mislead. The course of such road was sanctioned by the Hon. Mr. Gore and Mr. Booth, our member, and I fail to see what right a man, who owns no land on the island, has to interfere. The facts of the case will have no interest for the general public, but can be had at any time by anyone sufficiently interested. I only write now to put on record, in the interest of right and justice, a refutation of such a gross misstatement which, I assert, has not a shadow of truth.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I use Castoria in my practice, and find it specially adapted to affections of children." ALEX. ROBERTSON, M. D., 1057 2d Ave., New York.

"From personal knowledge and observation I can say that Castoria is an excellent medicine for children, acting as a laxative and relieving the pent up bowels and general system very much. Many mothers have told me of its excellent effect upon their children." Dr. G. C. Osborn, Lowell, Mass.

The New Vancouver Coal Mining and Land Co., Ltd.

FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.)

THE NANAIMO COAL. THE SOUTH FIELD COAL.

(Used principally for Gas and Domestic purposes.)

(Steam Fuel.)

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL.

(House and Steam Coal.) Are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, a high illuminating power, unequalled by any other Bituminous Gas Coals in the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite fuel for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal, makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay, where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean Steamers.
